Dear Dr Guo,

Welcome to the Frontiers community!

By having accepted this position in Epigenomics and Epigenetics, part of the journal(s) Frontiers in Cell and Developmental Biology and Genetics, you also agree to some practical work to promote your specialty.

Review Editors have a much more important role in Frontiers than in any other journal. In Frontiers you have the opportunity to shape and grow your field.

While this is essentially a volunteer appointment, it requires from you a strong commitment to devote the time and energy required to ensure the highest possible quality of scientifically valid articles published in Frontiers. Please familiarize yourself with the Frontiers Terms and Conditions (T&C) for Review Editors that you have just accepted; Frontiers will notify you by email of periodical revisions, and you can always access the latest T&C here:
<http://www.frontiersin.org/EbTermsAndConditions.aspx?SRID=13>.

By having accepted this position you agree to help build Frontiers Epigenomics and Epigenetics.

Get started!

1. Complete your Frontiers profile and add your expertise on the Loop network here:
<http://loop.frontiersin.org/people/>
2. Read the Review Editors guidelines here:
<http://www.frontiersin.org/Journal/MyReviewAssignment.aspx?stage=21>
3. Read the Frontiers Review guidelines here:
<http://www.frontiersin.org/Journal/MyReviewAssignment.aspx?stage=20>
4. Submit one of your own papers here:
<http://www.frontiersin.org/Submission/SubmissionInfo.aspx>
5. Suggest or host a Research Topic here:
<http://www.frontiersin.org/Journal/ManageSpecialTopic.aspx?mode=Suggest>
6. Learn more about Frontiers: <http://www.frontiersin.org/about>

We wish you great success in your specialty section and look forward to working with you.

Should you have any questions or comments, or should you need any assistance, please do not hesitate to contact our Frontiers Editorial Office.

Best regards,

Your Frontiers in Genetics team
